Wayne Long is the owner of Integrated Business Technology, a provider and integrator of IT solutions specially designed for small and medium sized businesses. Mr. Long is solely responsible for managing his clients' technical deployments, which at any time can consist of up to 120 devices.

THE BUSINESS CHALLENGE

Mr. Long needed an Internet security solution that would keep his clients' machines safe from cyber attacks and computer viruses, and be easy for him to manage. Mr. Long's previous security software had not performed adequately and thus needed replacing; system updates were spotty, communication among devices was often interrupted, and reporting on system activity was non-existent. "I needed a security solution that would actually give me and my clients a sense of security," Mr. Long said.

THE SOLUTION

Mr. Long chose the iSheriff Cloud Security cloud-based security system to safeguard his clients' networks and workstations. iSheriff Cloud Security provides a safe and secure Internet connection and protection from threats and malware. It is cost-effective and dramatically simplifies the way Integrated Business Technology protects its clients. Additional benefits include a single management console with a single set of policies for all users, no up-front expenditures, comprehensive reporting features, and around-the-clock expert support.

"I needed a centralized management tool that would give me the ability to easily reach out and touch multiple devices," Mr. Long said. "iSheriff Cloud Security delivers a stress-free and efficient management console, and helps me provide top-of-the-line email, Web, and endpoint security for my clients.”

RESULTS

The iSheriff cloud-based security solution that has replaced Mr. Long’s premise-based solution is delivering excellent results. Because iSheriff Cloud Security provides thorough reporting and statistical data, he is now able to determine the extent of the threats that are reaching each PC, in addition to identifying the Web sites that users are visiting. Mr. Long now has a better ability to block malware from infiltrating the system, since access to malicious sites is prohibited by the iSheriff solution.

Additional benefits iSheriff Cloud Security is providing include improved connectivity to end devices, better deployment of definition and application updates, and security of mobile devices. “Before iSheriff Cloud Security was implemented, a computer had to be connected to the network to be secure,” Mr. Long said. “Now, as long as there is an Internet connection at an off-premise location such as a home office or coffee shop, the device is still protected.”
